

1001: Kubernetes Trust Boundary

A Kubernetes trust boundary is a concept that defines a separation between entities with different levels of trust within a cluster. It acts as a security zone where entities within the boundary share a common level of trust and access, while entities outside the boundary are treated with suspicion.

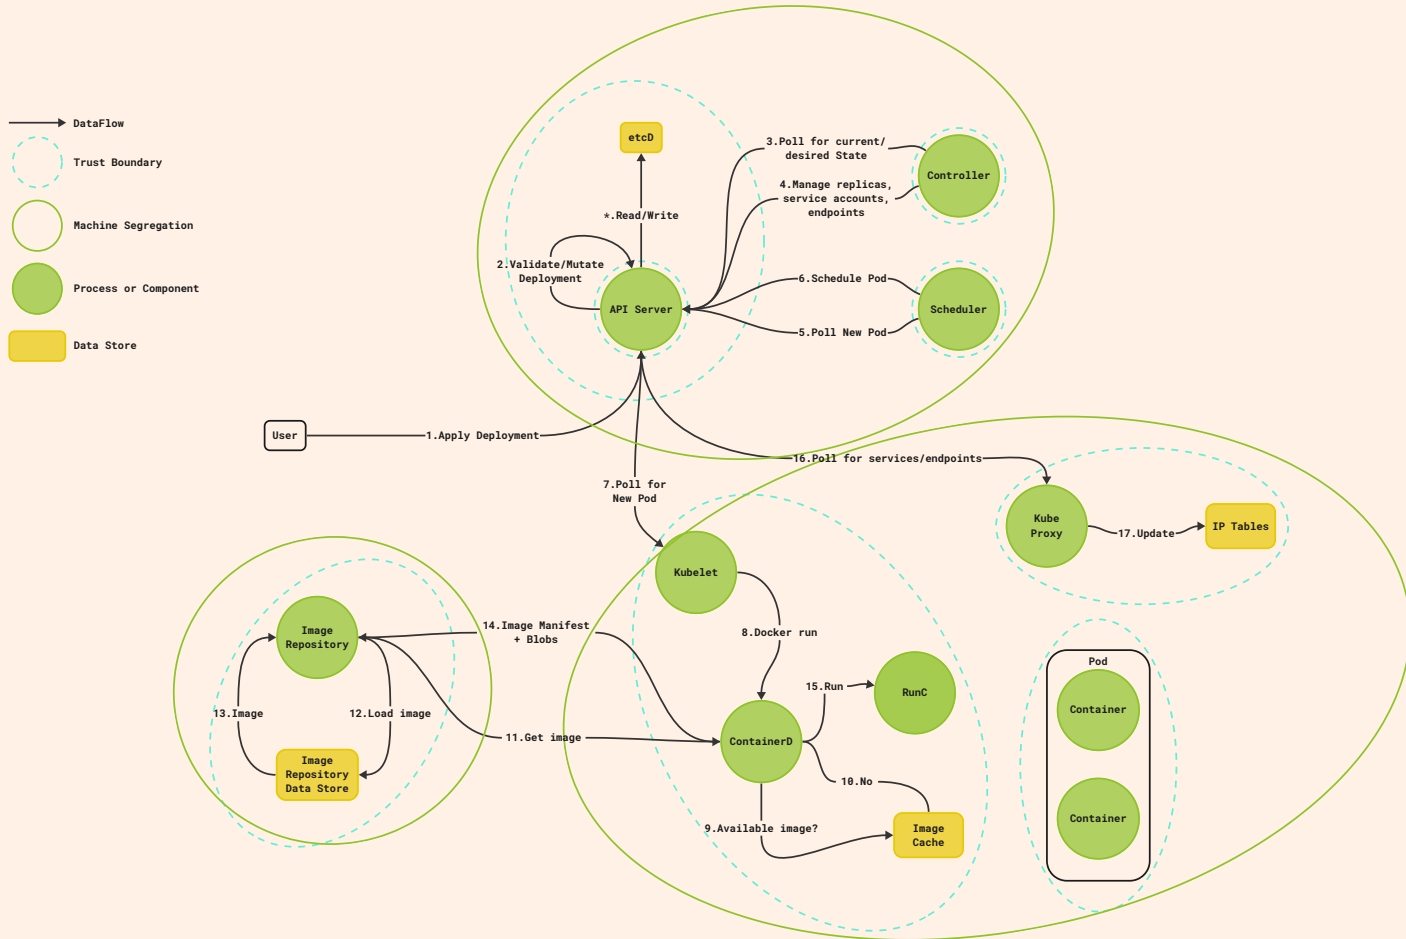

Series : 1001

Part : 0

Issue : 0.0.2

Vendor : AWS

Status : Design

K8ORgraph Series Number: 1001.0.0.2
K8ORgraph Alias Name: rebrandt

Reviewed for design, technical, flow, naming and numbering convention accuracy.
K8OR, K8ORgraph are Trademarks of AI Cloud Services, LLC, A Delaware Company, USA.
©2024, AI Cloud Services, Inc. or its affiliates. All rights reserved.

